ORDER

1. This is an application filed under Section 31 of the Armed Forces Act, 2007 being aggrieved with the impugned order of discharge dated 13.06.2015.
2. Heard Ld. Counsel for the parties and perused the records.
3. The brief facts of the case are that the applicant was enrolled on 21.01.2007. After attestation he was posted to FAD Punjab and after that the applicant was posted to 48 Rashtriya Rifles. During the course of his service in the Indian Army within the period of 09.12.2010 to 24.04.2015 he was awarded as many as five red ink entries and was punished for Rigorous Imprisonment for various periods, detention as well as pay fine.
4. Ld. Counsel for the applicant submitted that action of the respondents is in utter contravention of the Army Order dated 28.12.1988 and the impugned order is liable to be set aside on this ground alone.
5. It submitted by Ld. Counsel for the respondents that court of inquiry was held whereupon the show cause notice was served and the applicant was discharged from service.
6. We have considered the rival submissions made by Ld. Counsel for the parties. Copy of the show cause notice dated 12.08.2013 followed by show cause notice dated 04.01.2014, copies of which have been filed as Annexure No 4 and 5 to the O. A. at the face of record show that copy of the inquiry report was not served upon the applicant along with show cause notice which vitiates the proceedings with regard to discharge from service. Admittedly the applicant has been discharged on account of six red ink entries.

7. This Tribunal in the case of Abhilash Singh Kushwah vs. Union of India & ors. (OA. No. 168 of 2013, decided on 23.09.2015) has held that discharge from Army without following additional procedure provided by Army Order dated 28.12.1988 makes the order of discharge illegal and in contravention of statutory provisions of the Army Order (supra). For convenience sake para 75 of the judgment of this Tribunal in Abhilash Singh Kushwah's case (supra) is reproduced as under :-

*"75. In view of above, since the petitioner has been discharged from Army without following the additional procedure provided by A.O. 1988 (supra) seems to suffer from vice of arbitrariness. Finding with regard to applicability of Army Order 1988 (supra) is summarized and culled down as under:

- (i) In view of provision contained in sub-rule 2A read with sub-rule 3 of Rule 13 of the Army Order (supra), in case the Chief of the Army Staff or the Government add certain additional conditions to the procedure provided by Rule 13 of the Army Rule 1954 (supra), it shall be statutory in nature, hence shall have binding effect and mandatory for the subordinate authorities of the Army or Chief of the Army Staff himself, and non compliance shall vitiate the punishment awarded thereon.

- (ii) The Chief of the Army Staff as well as the Government in pursuance to Army Act, 1950 are statutory authorities and they have right to issue order or circular regulating service conditions in pursuance to provisions contained in Army Act, 1950 and Rule 2A of Rule 13 (supra). In case such statutory power is exercised, circular or order is issued thereon it shall be binding and mandatory in nature subject to limitations contained in the Army Act, 1950 itself and Article 33 of the Constitution of India.
- (iii) The case of Santra (supra) does not settle the law with regard to applicability of Army Order of 1988 (supra), hence it lacks binding effect to the extent the Army Order of 1988 is concerned.
- (iv) The judgment of Jammu & Kashmir High Court and Division Bench judgment of Delhi High Court as well as provisions contained in sub-rule 2A of Rule 13 of the Army Act, 1950 and the proposition of law flowing from the catena of judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court and High Court (supra) relate to interpretative jurisprudence, hence order in Ex Sepoy Arun Bali (supra) is per incuriam to statutory provisions as well as judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court and lacks binding effect.
- (v) The procedure contained in Army Order of 1988 (supra) to hold preliminary enquiry is a condition precedent to discharge an army personnel on account of red ink entries and non-compliance of it shall vitiate the order. Till the procedure in Army Order of 1988 (supra) continues and remains operative, its compliance is must. None compliance shall vitiate the punishment awarded to army personnel.

(iv) The procedure added by Army Order of 1988 is to effectuate and advances the protection provided by Part III of the Constitution of India, hence also it has binding effect.

(vii) Order of punishment must be passed by the authority empowered by Rules 13, otherwise it shall be an instance of exceeding of jurisdiction, be void and nullity in law”.

8. The Hon’ble Supreme Court while affirming the aforesaid proposition of law also held in the case of Veerendra Kumar Dubey (supra) that preliminary inquiry is necessary and discharge merely on the basis of red ink entries is not sustainable. For convenience sake para 12 of aforesaid judgment of the Hon’ble Supreme Court is reproduced as under:-

“12. The argument that the procedure prescribed by the competent authority de hors the provisions of Rule 13 and the breach of that procedure should not nullify the order of discharge otherwise validly made has not impressed us. It is true that Rule 13 does not in specific terms envisage an enquiry nor does it provide for consideration of factors to which we have referred above. But it is equally true that Rule 13 does not in terms make it mandatory for the competent authority to discharge an individual just because he has been awarded four red ink entries. The threshold of four red ink entries as a ground for discharge has no statutory sanction. Its genesis lies in administrative instructions issued on the subject. That being so, administrative instructions could, while prescribing any such threshold as well, regulate the exercise of the power by the competent authority qua an individual who qualifies for consideration on any such administratively prescribed norm. In as much as the competent authority has insisted upon an enquiry to be conducted in which an opportunity is given to the individual concerned before he is discharged from service, the instructions cannot be faulted on the ground that the instructions concede to the individual more than what is provided for by the rule. The instructions are aimed at ensuring a non-discriminatory fair and non-arbitrary application of the statutory rule. It may have been possible to assail the circular instructions if the same had taken away something that was granted to the individual by the rule. That is because administrative instructions cannot make inroads into statutory rights of an individual. But if an administrative authority prescribes a certain procedural safeguard to those affected against arbitrary exercise of powers, such safeguards or procedural equity and fairness will not fall foul of the rule or be dubbed ultra vires of the statute. The procedure prescribed by circular dated 28th December, 1988 far from violating Rule 13 provides safeguards against an unfair and improper use of the power vested in the authority, especially when even independent of the procedure stipulated by the competent authority in the circular aforementioned, the authority exercising the power of discharge is expected to take into consideration all relevant factors. That an individual has put in long years of service giving more often than not the best part of his life to armed forces, that he has been exposed to hard stations and difficult living conditions during his tenure and that he may be completing pensionable service are factors which the authority competent to discharge would have even independent of the procedure been required to take into consideration while exercising the power of discharge.

Insomuch as the procedure stipulated specifically made them relevant for the exercise of the power by the competent authority there was neither any breach nor any encroachment by executive instructions into the territory covered by the statute. The procedure presented simply regulates the exercise of power which would, but for such regulation and safeguards against arbitrariness, be perilously close to being ultra vires in that the authority competent to discharge shall, but for the safeguards, be vested with uncanalised and absolute power of discharge without any guidelines as to the manner in which such power may be exercise. Any such unregulated and uncanalised power would in turn offend Article 14 of the Constitution”.

9. In view of the above, the O.A. deserves to be allowed, hence allowed with all consequential benefits. However, restoration in service shall not confer any right to the applicant to claim arrears of salary but he shall be provided continuity in service for other service benefits. We, however, provide that it shall be open to the respondents to proceed against the applicant in accordance with law in case contingency so requires and the applicant fails to serve the Army up to the mark and continues to commit misconduct. The entire exercise shall be completed expeditiously, say, within a period of four months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

10. O.A. allowed accordingly.

No order as to costs.
